

My boyfriend has a cone head!

Help! My friends are always kidding me about my boyfriend and told me I could find better.

Two months ago, I met a boy at Dollorama and I fell in love with him. Aww... Since my friends met him, they laughed at me. They told that he is ugly and looks weird. At school, everyone is calling him Cone Head! He is 5 feet taller, but he is 6 with his long head. I don't want to be rejected because of the one I love. I am very happy with my boy, Gino, and I don't want to lose him.

Two days ago, I tried to talk with my friends but they laughed more and more. I asked them to stop because it hurts me but they just don't care. They are ashamed to stay with me...Because it didn't work; I exposed the situation to my boyfriend. Since that day, he doesn't feel good. He doesn't like to see me sad but he loves me. He told me that I should let him go if I would like to have a better life...

You must help me, I don't want my boyfriend in a bad mood. And I don't want to become the Cone Head's girl! I don't know what to do. I would like my friends to understand me, to accept Gino like he is. I am lost in this situation. Please Deidre, you must pimp my boy!