

Hello boy in big trouble!

We think we have an amazing solution for your big smelly problem. To begin with, you should take away the body. If it is too heavy to throw it in a river, you shall put the dead body in the trunk of your car and hide from the police until you get to the river. When you come back, the smell should stay still until you do something against it. Find something to cover it, like a flower or spray bleach all around your house. When your parents come back you should tell them everything because it is always better to tell them the truth. But, we think the best solution would be to call the police.

Good luck with that,
The 2 boys!
